-HOFFA QUIZ- Boxer Makes Charge

Davidson Says
Welfare Fund
Source Of Pay

Washington (UPI) — James R. Hoffa was threatened with possible perjury action Thursday after an ex-prizefighter whose contract he once shared contradicted the teamster president's sworn word.

Hoffa promised the Senate Rackets Committee that the union would get back an estimated $8,000 which the boxer, former Detroit heavyweight Embrel Davidson, said he was paid from the teamster welfare fund.

But Hoffa, who swore last fall that no union money went to Davidson, denied anew any knowledge of a $75 a week salary to the boxer.

Davidson insisted just as stoutly, that the salary was arranged in Hoffa's presence by teamster Vice President Owen Bert Brennan, who managed the fighter and shared his contract with Hoffa in 1952-53.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) ordered the conflicting testimony sent to the Justice Department to be checked for possible perjury action.

Should Be Returned

A short time later, Hoffa said that "if any money was paid . . . it should be immediately returned." He also said Brennan "will be requested to refund any money" Davidson got from the union while Brennan managed him.

Committee members also called for Brennan's ouster as a teamster official after he refused to answer 15 questions about the payments and alleged "association with gangsters and criminals." It was the second straight day Brennan invoked the 5th Amendment.

Hoffa, in his third day of testimony, swore he knew "positively nothing" about the "human torch" death of teamster official Frank Kierdorf in Flint, Mich.

McClellan accused Hoffa of consciously surrounding himself with criminals. "You keep them there and intend to keep them there as long as you can," the chairman told him.

Higher Temps To Approach Century Mark

Temperatures are predicted to reach up to 100, with the ever-present thunderstorms developing in the central and extreme east parts of the state Friday.

Weathermen blamed the continuing rainfall activity on a stationary weather trough now over Nebraska and Iowa, and predicted that an approaching cold front from Canada should change the monotonous forecasts by the weekend.

Thursday's high temperatures reached 97 at Omaha, with Lincoln recording 94. All weather stations had highs in the 90s.

Rainfall Thursday measured .75 at Beatrice and several other southeastern Nebraska communities received additional precipitation from afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Swollen streams and rivers in the eastern portion of the state continued to recede, with little flooding damage reported. Ithaca remained cut off from State 63 to the south Thursday night with both the highway and the spur into Ithaca under water.

Also remaining closed is State 370 east of Papillion where a bridge washout must be repaired.

Hartley Street Gets Belated Repairs

Street crews are shown re-ditching Hartley street where basements were flooded earlier this week. The mud scooped from the ditches and culverts will be hauled off. (Star Photo.)

STREET CREWS RE-DITCH FLOODED HARTLEY AREA

By Virgil Fallow

Two motor graders and city street crews were busy cleaning out the ditches and culverts in the Hartley street area Thursday in the wake of Tuesday's flooded basements.

The neglected condition of the shallow ditches and half-filled culverts has been blamed by residents for the five flooded basements and the collapse of another in the 900 block on Hartley.

"It's nice something is now being done," said one resident watching the work, "but it would have really helped two days ago."

'Better Late Than Never'

But she added philosophically: "Maybe it's better late than never."

Thursday's operations re-ditched Hartley in the flood area and several adjoining streets.

A street department spokesman said that the crews would remain in the area for several days and work over some other possible trouble spots in the Belmont district.

Will Help, Not Solve

City officials said the re-ditching work along the gravelled street will help but not entirely solve the drainage problem. In connection with paving district requests for adjoining streets in the area, a survey has indicated the need for a 30-inch storm sewer along Hartley.

However, the official noted that the city is already over $1 million behind its needs with the remaining 1954 storm sewer bond issue funds.

LaMarca Executed For Tot's Slaying

... Kidnaped Weinberger Infant

Ossining, N. Y. (AP)—His face set in sadness, John Angelo LaMarca, 33, walked calmly to his death in the electric chair Thursday night for the kidnap-slaying of 33-day-old Peter Weinberger.

To almost the very last minute, LaMarca hoped he would be saved. But by 11 p.m. (EDT) when he entered the death house at Sing Sing prison, he wore the expression of a man who had at last given up.

He made no statement and glanced only once around the execution room at the 35 witnesses. Then he calmly took his place in the chair and dropped his chin to his chest. Only the soft sound of the prayers of the Rev. George McKinney, Roman Catholic chaplain at the prison, could be heard.

LaMarca was pronounced dead 3 minutes after he entered the room. His wife, Donna, had remained with him in his cell until 9 p.m.

"Maybe they'll save me yet," prison officials said he cried out occasionally during his final hours of life.

-Remote Control- Bomarc Missile Strays

Launched From
1,500 Miles
Away; Fails

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—A speedy Bomarc aid defense interceptor missile was launched successfully by remote control from 1,500 miles away Thursday, but it failed to find its target.

The Boeing missile, touted as the nation's most highly developed air defense weapon, roared aloft on a spectacular launching after someone pressed a button in Kingston, N.Y.

The button was connected to one of the world's largest electronic computers—a part of the American air defense network.

The Air Force announced that the mid-course guidance system failed to function properly as the Bomarc streaked at 3 times the speed of sound across the south Atlantic.

B17 Drone

The missile was aimed at a simulated enemy bomber—actually an unmanned B17 drone—cruising some 250 miles off the cape.

The cause of the malfunction will not be known until telemetry data on the flight has been analyzed, officials said.

The primary objective of the shot was to test the Bomarc working with "Sage"—a complex network of radar sites and computers that helps screen the nation from enemy air attack.

Sage, which means semi-automatic ground environment, went into effect June 27.

Texas Towers

In the event of attack, the enemy force is picked up on strategically located radar sites, including huge Texas towers in the Atlantic off the East Coast.

The data is relayed to the computers which produce data and feed it to alerted aircraft and missile defense units in seconds.

Air Force officials said that although the Bomarc lost its bearings, the test proved the compatibility of the missile's performance with the Sage network.

Once airborne, the Bomarc guides in on its target by electronic instinct. The missile is expected to become operational in the near future.

CREEK GOING 2 WAYS

Cropland Disappears

Lincoln Star Special

Syracuse — Muddy Creek may not be the largest waterway in southeastern Nebraska, but it is certainly one of the most temperamental.

Now the erratic stream is running in two directions—water flows east but the creek bed is heading west—and farmers along the banks are watching large chunks of adjoining cropland disappear into Muddy Creek water.

Sound strange? It all began along the Muddy approximately 7 miles south of Syracuse on Highway 50, about 2 miles downstream.

Two-Mile Strip

Heavy rains in the area throughout the year have kept the creek at high water much of the time, and due to a sandy bottom, water began to eat away the bed along what has now become a two-mile strip of eroded creek bottom.

Along this strip, which was formerly about 20 feet wide, the creek basin has become at least 80 feet wide as undermined land caved into the stream.

During the last 48 hours, the creek has backed up more than 150 feet, carrying from 20 to 40 feet of cropland on the Phillip and Johnny Doeden farm with it as banks caved and dumped corn and soil into the water.

Like Bulldozer

It looks as though a giant bulldozer had gouged a deep, wide trench through the countryside.

Recent heavy rains have speeded up erosion, but according to farmers in the area, even in normal periods the creek has been backing up about 6 feet per day.

Nobody knows when the stream will stop widening its own channel, but some farmers figure as soon as the backward erosion reaches a more solid streambed, it will resume its normal course.

Sen. Gore Wins Tennessee Vote

... Democratic Primary Victory

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—Sen. Albert Gore won renomination in Thursday's Tennessee Democratic primary. Buford Ellington, backed by the state administration, held a growing lead in the 4-man gubernatorial race with nearly two-thirds of the precincts counted.

In tabulations from 1,975 of the state's 2,601 precincts, Gore received 230,175 votes to 162,917 by Prentice Cooper, ardent segregationist and former governor. They included complete returns from Cooper's home county of Bedford and partial returns from the state's 4 major cities.

Ellington received 144,597 votes to 127,263 for Memphis Mayor Edmund Orgill. Andrew T. Taylor of Jackson, a circuit judge, received 135,345 votes and Clifford Allen, state senator of Nashville, 34,885. High man wins without a runoff.

Gore's record provided the principal issue in the Senate race, with Cooper hammering at the senator's support of liberal legislation. Gore defended his record as being in the best interest of the nation as a whole.

The state's 3 congressmen with opposition—Republican Rep. B. Carroll Reece and Democrats Ross Bass and J. Carlton Loser—took commanding leads over their opponents as returns piled in. Reece was behind briefly, but quickly picked up as his home county reported.

Six representatives were unopposed.

Ellington served nearly two terms as commissioner of agriculture in the cabinet of Gov. Frank Clement, ineligible to succeed himself. Clement and his administration supported Ellington.

Pulled Out

Cooper, 3 times governor of Tennessee and one-time U.S. ambassador to Peru, first entered the governor's race and pulled out several weeks ago to campaign against Gore.

Democratic nomination for governor and senator is tantamount to election in this upper southern state.

Tennessee has no primary runoff and the high man in the governor's race will carry the party label in November.

Talks Begin Today

An Emergency
Session Called
On Mideast

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly was summoned to meet Friday afternoon in emergency session on the Middle East.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld issued the call Thursday night shortly after the Security Council agreed unanimously in a last-minute compromise to call for a full meeting of the 81-nation assembly.

He set the opening meeting for 5 p.m. EDT (2 p.m. CST). It is expected to be limited to organizational details.

Most delegations have permanent representatives already in New York. They will attend the opening. Others have representatives in Washington who can arrive on short notice.

Broad Approach Urged

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared the United States wants the Assembly to deal with broad and fundamental problems of the Middle East.

He challenged Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev to let the Russian people hear the full Assembly debate.

"We ask you on a trial basis for the duration of this General Assembly session to permit the Soviet people and the peoples of Eastern Europe to hear all sides of the grave issues exercising the world today," he said.

Sobolev replied the Soviet people were well-informed on world issues.

Step Toward Summit

Later Sobolev told a reporter the Soviet Union thinks the Assembly might be "a good first step toward the summit."

He declined to say whether he will raise the issue of a seat for Communist China when the Assembly convenes, but did say he thinks he will speak.

Asked if unanimity in the Council was a good omen for the Assembly, he replied: "I don't think so. The unanimity is on the procedure, not on the substance."

Main debate is expected to begin early next week.

LASSOED DEER JOINS PIONEERS COLLECTION

An Emerald poultry farmer stole a scene from the "Old West" early Thursday when he used a lariat to catch a full-grown deer.

The farmer, John Scott, said the mule deer which was "very friendly," wandered near a group of men working on his farm.

After Scott had lassoed the animal he and Dick Arnold of Lincoln threw it to the ground and tied it like a "calf ready for branding" and set it under a tree so it would not be bothered by the sun.

Then Scott called Lincoln Park Superintendent, James Ager, and offered the "critter" to the capital city's Pioneers Park Zoo.

Soon the "friendly" mule deer and Scott parted company as a truck from the zoo came for the animal to add it to the park's collection of deer.

4 New County Deputy Sheriffs Named

Increase In Patrolling To Start Aug. 15

By Del Harding
Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp announced Thursday the names of his 4 new deputy sheriffs.

They are:
Lowell D. Closser, 25, of 1030 No. 48th. Married and a Marine Corps military police veteran, he is a 1958 business administration graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Norman G. Haacke, 44, of 4020 No. 48th. Also married, he served for 7 years as chief of police at Ralston, Neb., and also worked one year as a Douglas County deputy sheriff. For the past two-and-a-half years he has been a guard at the State Penitentiary.

Ronald C. Doran, 21, of 500 So. 29th. The son of Lincoln Police Cruiser Officer Clifford Doran, he was recently discharged from the Army. He has been a guard at the Men's Reformatory since July 1.

Kenneth W. Nelson, 23, of 1045 No. 69th. Also married, he is now working for a local grocery.

3 Night Cars

The hiring of the new deputies was approved Tuesday by the County Board. The men will be used to boost the number of sheriff's cars on night county-road patrol duty from one to 3 (with two deputies in each car.)

Karnopp also announced a new patrol plan for the county which will go into effect Aug. 15 when the new deputies begin their duties.

The sheriff said one night patrol car will work east of U.S. Highway 77, one will work west of U.S. 77 and the third will confine its patrolling to the Lincoln area. The cars will be on staggered 9-hour shifts.

The first car will go on the road at 5 p.m., the second at 8 p.m. and the third at 10 p.m.

Added Checks

Karnopp said in the past it has often been impossible for his one night patrol car to check each of the 21 county towns even as often as once a week. But he said with the 3 cars each town will be checked at least 3 or 4 times each week.

Karnopp said the 4 new deputies were selected from about 20 applications. This will bring his staff to 18 deputies (including 2 who do nearly full-time tax work and 4 jailors).

The men, he said, will receive in-service training from experienced deputies and also will attend the Tuesday night instruction being given for all deputies by Dep. Sheriff Del Ziemann, a recent graduate of the FBI's National Police Academy. The new men will all receive $300 a month.

—Reciprocal Trade—

House OKs Extension Of 4 Years

Washington (P)—The House voted 161-56 Thursday for a 4-year extension of the reciprocal trade program, giving President Eisenhower most of what he asked.

While the bill "does not contain everything which I believe is desirable, it is nevertheless acceptable to me," Eisenhower said.

The President gave his endorsement in a letter to Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Ways and Means committee. Mills read the letter to the House, before the standing vote on passage.

The bill is a compromise, worked out finally the previous day by a Senate-House Conference Committee. The House had originally voted a 5-year extension, as Eisenhower had asked, while the Senate voted for 3 years.

The 4-year extension is the longest ever voted for the program. It was fathered 24 years ago by Secretary of State Cordell Hull under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

2 Hospitalized With Burns After Solvent Tank Explodes

A Lincoln man and a teenage boy were hospitalized with second and third degree burns received Thursday afternoon when a tank of cleaning solvent exploded.

Injured were Willard Spilker, 32, of 611 A and Robert E. Colin Jr., 15, of 3711 Washington.

The pair was injured while filling a tank, which they had just cleaned, with a supposedly non-flammable cleaning solvent at the Colin Electric Motor Service Repair Shop, 230 So. 19th.

According to workmen who were in another part of the building at the time of the blast and fire the victims although stunned and burned walked from the smoke-filled shop.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital by one of the other workers before firemen arrived to extinguish the blaze.

Hospital officials said the victims, who suffered second and third degree burns, were listed as satisfactory. They were held at the hospital.

Firemen and shop officials were unable to explain what caused the cleaning solvent to explode and the amount of damage caused to the building was not readily accessible because the wiring to the damaged portion of the shop was affected and workmen had no idea how much equipment had been damaged.

Spilker, a shop foreman, had worked for the company about 7 years. Young Colin is the son of Robert Colin Sr., owner of the shop.

July Jobless List Same As June; 3,300 Out Of Work

Unemployment in Lincoln remained at the June level in July despite a drop of 850 in the total labor force.

According to Nebraska State Employment Service officials capital city unemployment was about 3,300 during July although the size of the work force declined from 59,400 in June to 58,550. The unemployed in June also numbered about 3,300.

The reduced force, according to employment officials, probably resulted from the fact that a fairly large number of women, separated from factory jobs, withdrew from the labor force. They also noted that many students unable to find jobs at the end of the school term gave up the quest.

An increase in demands for local labor is expected in the next 60 days, the agency pointed out, due to predicted rise in construction work some of which is already contracted for.

In July, although construction work was hampered by wet weather 150 construction workers were added. Another 150 persons were employed during the month in connection with wheat and hay harvesting.

Unemployment last month was 1,300 above the 1957 figure for July.

Work force and employment figures for June and July for the 1957:

	July 1958	June 1958	July 1957
Total work force	58,550	59,400	59,400
Total employment	55,250	56,150	56,150
Unemployed	3,300	3,250	3,250

Total work force July 1957: 58,100
Total employment July 1957: 56,100
Unemployment July 1957: 2,000

CPPD To Appeal Court's OK Of 3% Occupation Tax

By Virgil Falloon
Consumers Public Power District will appeal the district court decision upholding Lincoln's 3% occupation tax against the power district.

Ray Schacht, Consumers general manager, informed Mayor Bennett Martin of this intended action Thursday from Columbus following a telephone poll of the district's board of directors.

Further litigation by Consumers means that Lincoln will not be able to use the tax funds, now in escrow or to be collected, to reduce the property tax levy required by the city's 1958-59 budget.

City May Counter
It appears also that the city may counter with one or more other issues in connection with the tax question.

Schacht's announcement gave no reasons for the decision to appeal the declaratory judgment action further and he was unavailable for comment.

However, it is believed that Consumers fears that the favorable decision for Lincoln, if let stand, would lead other cities to make a similar levy.

Review Of Conditions

Mayor Martin said he has informed Schacht that Lincoln now intends to press for complete legal review of conditions as they will exist in 1972.

That is the year established by state statutes in which Consumers is supposed to turn over its distribution lines to those cities in which they are located.

However, there has long been an air of uncertainty over the exact interpretation of this law and Consumer's intentions of carrying it out.

Involve 'Cooperation'

Martin said the occupation tax issue and the 1972 date have something in common.

No Indictment In Slaying Of Kuykendall

Brady, Tex. (P)—A grand jury refused Thursday to indict J. B. Harris Jr. of Shreveport, La., in the race track slaying of Joe Kuykendall here July 3.

Kuykendall, a tall, dark Blacksmith, died of 13 wounds after he was shot from the saddle of his horse. The shooting followed an argument over a race horse trade.

Harris, 32, had told officers he shot Kuykendall because he feared for his life.

Kuykendall was acquitted at Omaha, Neb., in 1954 of the death of his wife, Ardath (Nonie) Kuykendall, 30, who was found dead in the couple's luxurious house trailer. He was her 8th husband.

Kuykendall had met her while training horses for the heiress' mother, Mrs. Jack McKinley, wife of a Dragoon, Ariz., rancher.

CITY AID FOR CENTENNIAL 'DOUBTFUL'

The city apparently will not be able to contribute financially to its planned centennial observance.

The Lincoln Centennial Corporation has requested a $10,000 contribution from the city, but the city's ability to do so has been questioned from two directions.

Mayor Bennett Martin said he doesn't know where the city could find the money.

And, City Atty. Ralph Nelson doubts that it would be legal for the city to appropriate any money for this purpose.

12 Killed In Lebanon Flare-Up

Beirut (P)—Mountain tribesmen in the fought-over Bekaa Valley of northeast Lebanon clashed with pro-government forces Thursday. They thus broke the week-old truce brought on by the election of Gen. Fuad Shehab as president. Twelve persons were reported killed.

In Jordan, more British Tommies trekked across the desert to reinforce the guard on the nation's only surface supply line from the outside world — the road between Aqaba Port and Amman, the capital.

Sources in Amman said about 500 more British troops landed at Aqaba at King Hussein's request. They join 2,500 already in Jordan.

Tankers Collide; 15 Die

Newport, R.I. (P)—Two tankers, groping through an early morning fog, crashed in flaming fury Thursday at the mouth of Newport Harbor. At least 15 lives were lost. Thirty-six crewmen — many with flesh seared by gasoline-fueled flames — and a pilot were hospitalized. The Coast Guard called off the search in mid-afternoon figuring all had been accounted for.

Three others were still missing, however, according to a crew list issued by the Gulf Oil Co. The Coast Guard said they may have signed on but never boarded the craft.

The vessels were the SS Gulfoil, 10,340 tons, which was outward bound, empty, from Providence, and the S. E. Graham, a 250-foot motor tanker, inbound to Providence with about 650,000 gallons of gasoline.

Frank Powell, 42, of Matthews, Va., who was at the wheel of the Graham, said the Gulfoil, heading for Port Arthur, Tex., struck his ship on the port bow, just aft of the forecastle.

Flames broke out almost instantly. Gasoline spewed out on the calm, fog-shrouded waters and blazed furiously.

Crewmen launched a boat from the Graham but couldn't find it because of the poor visibility and had to leap into the sea.

Both ships were moving slowly, crewmen said. The groan of fog horns rent the quiet calm at intervals.

Both tankers were beached quickly while scores of small craft searched the waters for survivors.

The Graham later was pulled off the southern tip of Rose Island into open water. Then several Navy firefighting tugs, impervious to the danger of a possible explosion, nosed their prows into Graham's starboard side and played hoses on the flaming and charred craft.

State Geologist 44 Years: Dr. G. E. Condra Dies; NU Conservation Head

Dr. George Evert Condra, for 44 years Nebraska State Geologist and long-time dean of the University of Nebraska Conservation and Survey Division, died Thursday at the age of 89.

He had been living with his daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Macfarlane of Glendale for 4 years.

His death was attributed to a respiratory difficulty following a broken hip suffered 6 weeks ago.

Members of the University of Nebraska Innocents Society who live in California will be pallbearers.

State Geologist

Dr. Condra, a native of Seymour, Ia., served as director of the Conservation and Survey Division from 1918 to 1954. He had been State Geologist from 1910 until 1954.

He had served as president of the National Conservation Congress, president of the State Irrigation Assn., vice president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and trustee of Midwest Research Institute.

Many honor had been bestowed upon Dr. Condra, among them the American Forestry Award, he received in 1951; a 50-year cap for his half century affiliation with Scottish Rite Masonry, the Kiwanis District Service Award in 1945; the distinction of being the first agricultural geologist named to the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement; the Acacia Award of Merit; and the Nebraska Builder Award, the highest non-academic honor presented by the University.

Dr. Condra was one of the founders of the Innocents Society, men's honorary organization of the University of Nebraska, and was its counselor for 30 years.

He was the author of numerous papers, bulletins and books, chiefly dealing with geology, geography, resources and conservation in Nebraska.

He was also especially active in reclamation and conservation and is noted for starting the soil conservation survey.

Dr. Condra is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Macfarlane.

Both ships were moving slowly, crewmen said. The groan of fog horns rent the quiet calm at intervals.

Both tankers were beached quickly while scores of small craft searched the waters for survivors.

The Graham later was pulled off the southern tip of Rose Island into open water. Then several Navy firefighting tugs, impervious to the danger of a possible explosion, nosed their prows into Graham's starboard side and played hoses on the flaming and charred craft.

Wagner Applies For Post ... At Auditorium

Dick Wagner, general manager of the Lincoln Chiefs since 1955, has filed formal application with the Auditorium Advisory Committee at its request for the position of auditorium business manager.

Wagner appears at present to have the inside track for the post, one Lincoln businessman told The Star.

The Chiefs' general manager confirmed reports of the application late Thursday night.

"I have filed application. Anything else to be said is up to the advisory committee," Wagner said.

Auditorium Advisory Committee Chairman Richard W. Chapin refused to comment on the reports. Asked if Wagner had applied, he said, "I can't answer that."

About 25 applications, 14 of them from Lincoln, have been received, Chapin said. The committee has interviewed 13 applicants, 11 of them from Lincoln, he reported.

The committee hopes to name a successor to Manager Don Jewell, who is leaving about Nov. 1 to become manager of the new Portland (Ore.) Recreation-Exposition Center, during the first week in September, Chapin noted.

The Chiefs end regular season play Sept. 10.

"Anyone interested in applying for the job should have applications in by Aug. 15," Chapin said.

Wagner, 30, had been urged to apply for the auditorium post since the time when Jewell announced his resignation, it has been reported. He had refused to comment on those reports.

A native of Central City, Wagner started his baseball career in 1947 at the age of 19, serving as general manager of the Thomasville, Ga., team.

Since that time, he has been at Flint, Mich.; Miami, Fla.; San Antonio, Tex.; Hutchinson, Kan., and Lincoln.

In 1947, Wagner was named Minor League Executive of the Year by The Sporting News. Attendance last year in Lincoln topped the 100,000 mark for the first time since 1949.

Balloon Monkey Takes 10-Mile Fall--And Lives

'Mathilda' Is Pronounced In Good Shape

Crosby, Minn. (UPI) — A 13-pound female monkey named "Mathilda" fell more than 10 miles to earth beneath a collapsed balloon Thursday and lived.

So did a gang of hardy frogs, along with assorted insects and other forms of life. A collection of goldfish didn't survive the long drop. Their water spilled.

Air Force scientists discovered Mathilda and her traveling companions 60 miles from their balloon's launching site near Crosby. Mathilda was kicking and screaming. Medics fed her a banana, gave her an examination, and pronounced her ready to lead another exploration into space next week.

"Ouch!" The first medic to stick his head into the pressurized gondola was asked immediately whether Mathilda was still alive. His answer: "Ouch! she tried to bite me!"

The largest plastic balloon ever launched lifted Mathilda and her strange companions into the stratosphere from an open iron pit near Crosby early Thursday. Their balloon was expected to climb to 135,000 feet—25 miles above the earth—in an Air Force study of the effects of cosmic rays.

At about 60,000 feet, the 650-pound balloon hit the jet stream and split open. The balloon and its payload started down again, with the crumpled fabric acting as a combination parachute and sail.

Capsule Intact
The 200-pound gondola, loaded with scientific paraphernalia, came down on a farm near Pine City, Minn. The capsule containing the animals did not break and the only reason the goldfish died was because their water container burst.

Visiting Colombia Grainmen Plug Coffee Purchases

By Hal Hasselbach
Brought to the Great Plains by wheat growers in search of new markets in Colombia, 4 Bogota grainmen plugged the home crop when questioned about possible purchases of U.S. made machinery in an interview Thursday.
The Colombians pointed out that greater purchases of coffee, their chief crop, would give them dollars needed to buy the machines needed to match wheat handling and production in the United States.

"You buy 6 million bags of coffee a year," said the group's spokesman, Rafael R. Comacho, "but we still have another million to sell."
He is a representative of the Agricultural Society of Columbia, an organization of large land owners.

The other 3 Colombians touring Nebraska and Kansas are Douglas Botero, president of Miller's Federation in Bogota; Dr. Luigi Marengon, manager of the National Federation of Pasta (noodles) Manufacturers; and Fabio Jaramillo, manager of the National Federation of Bakers.

Dietrich Jailed

Landsberg, Germany (AP) — Former SS Col. Gen. Stepp Dietrich started an 18-month jail term for his part in the 1934 Nazi blood bath purge.
The 66-year-old burly veteran Nazi returned to Landsberg Prison less than 3 years after he was freed on parole from a 25-year war crimes term.
The first term was imposed by a U.S. military court on Dietrich as commander of the elite guard units blamed for the Malmédy massacre of 142 unarmed American prisoners in 1944.

Plain Phone Book

Covers Are OK'd

It will be all right for subscribers of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Omaha to put covers on their telephone directories, as long as they are plain covers carrying no advertising type printing, the State Railway Commission has said.

Previous regulations had forbid use of telephone directory covers or binders unless supplied by the telephone company itself.

A revision in Northwestern Bell's general rules and regulations, formally approved by the commission, permits the subscriber to provide his own plain cover or binder if he wishes, a commission spokesman said.

Miller, Marilyn's Mate, Wins a 9-0 Reversal

Washington (AP)—Marilyn Monroe's playwright husband, Arthur Miller, Thursday won a reversal of his conviction of a contempt of Congress charge.

By a 9-0 vote, the U.S. Court of Appeals overturned the conviction and ordered a judgment of acquittal entered in the case. This wiped out a 30-day suspended jail sentence and a $500 fine imposed on Miller in May, 1957.

The case grew out of the prize-winning playwright's refusal to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities in June, 1956, the names of Communist writers with whom he acknowledged attending meetings in New York in 1947.

At his home in Woodbury, Conn., the 42-year-old Miller said he was "very happy that I have been vindicated and I just regret that I was put through so much trouble in order to end up where I started—namely a free American citizen."

NOW! ...for the first time ever you get the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash in a single product

New STRIPE toothpaste

WITH HEXACHLOROPHENE

Stripe keeps your breath "close-up-clean."

- KILLS BAD BREATH GERMS
...better than any leading mouthwash !
- KILLS TOOTH DECAY GERMS
...better than any leading toothpaste !

Ask your physician or dentist about HEXACHLOROPHENE

He can probably give you astonishing facts about germ-killing hexachlorophene from experience. For example: surgeons using hexachlorophene regularly need only a fraction of the time previously required to kill germs on their hands before operations! The dentist enjoys similar benefits. The most remarkable thing about hexachlorophene is that it actually increases effectiveness with regular use. It builds up its protection to keep germs away between applications.

In Stripe* toothpaste, hexachlorophene penetrates hard-to-reach places no toothbrush touches. It kills the odor and decay-causing germs that hide there—millions of such germs that every other leading toothpaste or mouthwash leaves in your mouth.

And Stripe, used regularly, will keep right on warding off those germs between brushings! Remember, the only toothpaste you can buy that contains germ-killing hexachlorophene is new Stripe.

Of course, you want a toothpaste to clean and polish your teeth, too. Stripe's cleanser-polisher was chosen by research scientists at one of America's leading dental universities as the finest cleanser-polisher yet discovered.

Stripe tastes as good as it looks, too. Youngsters often astound parents by brushing oftener and longer with Stripe than ever before. Safe even for the youngest child. 100% sugar-free.

Get new Stripe soon. It's the best toothpaste you can buy today! Economy size, 69¢. Giant, 53¢. Large, 31¢.

Guarantee: The performance and quality of Stripe Toothpaste are unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company. Purchase price refunded if not satisfied.

*The word Stripe and the stripe on the toothpaste itself are trade-marks of Lever Brothers Company.

The red stripes tell you it's the only toothpaste with hexachlorophene—Stripe.

9th, 10th Likely To Be Interstate Access Roads

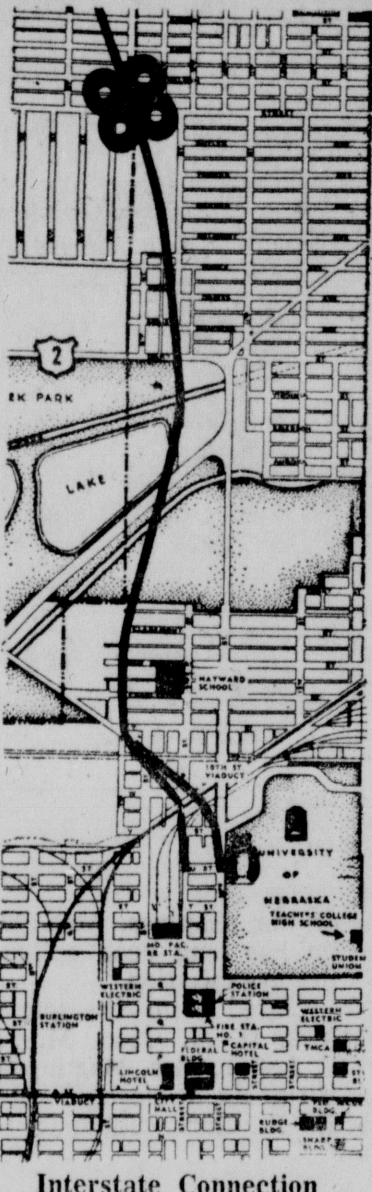

Friday, August 8, 1958 The Lincoln Star 9

Serious Study Given Route

By Virgil Falloon
Lincoln's downtown "access connections" to the Interstate Highway will probably be the originally-proposed 9th and 10th routes with some modifications.

Reliable sources said that 9th and 10th as the "main streets" for the connection are getting serious study in regard to traffic predictions for 1975.

Apparently gone out the window is the 7th street route passing under the Harris Overpass with interchanges at P and Q and surface lead-ins at K, L, M and N.

4-Lane
This route as a divided 4-lane expressway was favored by Harold Bartholomew and Associates, planning consultants for the city.

It is believed that 7th street route has been rejected because of its probable cost as compared with 9th and 10th.

State Engineer L. N. Ress has said he didn't like the Bartholomew-suggested 7th street route and has leaned toward 9th and 10th access routes as already approved in general by the Federal Bureau of Roads.

Modifications
City Engineer Carl Fisher said that city and state engineering representatives were working out some modifications for the 9th and 10th connection route, but that nothing has been finalized.

Fisher also indicated that a braided interchange on the access connection to provide a future eastern route about 19th and 20th, close to the Rock Island tracks, has also been dropped.

Ress also has shown little interest in the proposed eastern route, saying that no Interstate money is available for it.

Fisher said the 1975 traffic predictions are being studied in relation to dissipating as much traffic as possible on to east-west streets as possible before reaching O.

Overloading Seen
The O street intersections at 9th and 10th will be "overloaded" by 1975 with the Interstate access traffic in addition to West O, he said.

The problem is how to bypass some of the traffic around the downtown district that generates from West O.

Fisher said that the city would probably have to have an overpass connection for K and L to West O to help relieve the O street congestion and Harris Overpass.

Future traffic planning also indicates more one-way streets in the business district, perhaps all except O. Another possibility is prohibiting parking on the 9th and 10th for greater traffic flow.

City officials pointed out that the final decision on the connecting routes will come from the state, which is responsible for the Interstate money.

AF Seeks 15 ICBM Sites; Lincoln Is In 'Survey' Area

Washington (AP)—Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) said Thursday the Air Force currently is surveying about 15 areas in a search for Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) sites.

Among the areas included in survey plans is the Lincoln, Neb., Air Force Base.

Chavez, chairman of the Senate defense appropriations subcommittee, said the Air Force currently is interested in 3 types of missiles—Titan, Atlas and Bomarc. Both the Titan and Atlas are ICBM's. The Bomarc is an interceptor missile.

Location of Bomarc sites, Chavez said, would be on the outer perimeter of the country.

3 Areas Surveyed
He said the areas being surveyed include the southwest, northwest and central sections of the country.

The mere survey of an area would not necessarily mean site would be chosen there, Chavez added.

The Air Force previously has announced the location of ICBM sites at Cook AFB, Calif., and the Cheyenne, Wyo., Spokane, Wash., and Omaha, Neb., areas.

Altitude A Factor
Factors to be considered in selecting a site, he said, would include the area's altitude. He said this comes into the picture because the missile's range is increased by higher altitudes.

The Air Force earlier this week said its surveys would not result in immediate selection of any sites.

Plans to survey the Lincoln Air Force Base area for possible location of "a weapon system site" were revealed earlier this week by the office of Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska.

Hruska said the Air Force announcement gave no dates of the survey.

The Air Force said the survey was to provide basic information to be used in planning weapon systems expected to be operational in the near future.

January Vote Proposed

A special election this coming January for a commission to voters of the proposed new city charter has been unanimously recommended to the City Council.

Making the recommendation in a letter to Mayor Bennett Martin is the special Council-appointed committee headed by former Mayor Clark Jeary. The group was charged with setting the time of the election and carrying out a charter educational program.

The committee membership, Jeary said, feels that the charter is of sufficient importance to warrant a special election. It is not something, he said, that should be confused with either candidates or other issues on the ballot.

While the committee set the month for the election, the specific day was left for decision by the Council.

Martin said he was sure the Council would go along with the recommendations of Jeary's committee. The month recommended, he said, will remove the election from other conflicts and allow ample time for dissemination of information on the charter provisions.

On the committee besides Jeary are Jack Pace, Richard Chapin, Harold Hoppe, Mrs. Michael Boosalis, L. J. Messer, L. R. Ricketts and Mrs. J. L. P.

BY SYBIL WEBBER
They say summer is more than a season, it's a state of mind—and the best way to capture the joy of summer to the fullest is to relax. So, we'll just concern ourselves with vacations—and relaxing things of that nature!

... first, and foremost, there's news of the arrival of LAFB's new 818th Air Division Commander and his family. We're speaking, of course, of Colonel Thomas Corbin, Mrs. Corbin and their three daughters, Misses Cynthia, 12; Aletha, 10; and Beth, age 5.

Right now they're in the process of getting settled in their new quarters... but in a relaxed sort of way. Like they say... Air Force families must put down roots quickly in a new community. Not only are the Corbins putting down roots quickly and firmly—they are doing it with ease. Their plans call for them to leave Lincoln about August 10, when Col. Corbin will brush up on some B-47 training at Topeka, while Willis Corbin and her three daughters visit relatives in Kansas City. They will return to Lincoln the latter part of the month.

... and speaking of returning to Lincoln—Capt. and Mrs. Hale Husband (Mary and Shorty) are back from a month's trek that included a second honeymoon at Niagara Falls. It was unique in the fact that they were accompanied by their son

Mrs. Swindler, with Dr. Swindler and their family, soon will be leaving for Williamsburg, Va., where Dr. Swindler will be on the faculty of William and Mary College.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their son and daughter also are visiting Mr. Williams' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rall.

The visitors stopped off in Lincoln en route to their home in Portland, Ore., from Flint, Mich., where Mr. Williams spent 10 days instructing at the General Motors training school.

In courtesy to the guest foursome Mr. and Mrs. Jess Williams entertained at a family dinner on Thursday evening at their home.

Honoring the travelers on Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Copple who entertained at a picnic supper at their home.

NEWS OF SERVICE CIRCLES

Marriage Solemnized

Miss Glenna Lea Benedict, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Stack of Bellwood, became the bride of Sgt. Charles Cresson, USMC, son of Mrs. Helen Hannon of Coloma, Mich., at a ceremony solemnized at noon on Sunday, July 27, at the First Methodist Church in San Francisco. The Rev. Leon Mortorano read the lines of the service.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Patricia Cannon of Fairfield, Calif., who wore a sheath frock of pink cotton brocade and carried a nosegay of pink carnations. Lt. Raoul Von Richter, USAF, Pt. Arena, Calif., served as best man. The bride wore for her wedding a sheath gown of white lace designed in the daytime length and accented by a full overskirt of white nylon sheer. A crown of seed pearls and rhinestones held her short veil of illusion, and she carried a cluster of white carnations.

Following a wedding trip to Nebraska and Michigan, the couple will reside at 1346 Pine St., San Francisco. Mrs. Cresson is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University and Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Sgt. Cresson is stationed with the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

SUBURBIA

This morning there is more news of interesting guests, plus the usual vacation activity in the suburbia areas of South Hills, Fiene Heights and Kessler Heights.

SOUTH HILLS

Understand that Mrs. Roswill Johnson returned home last Thursday from Kansas City, Kan., where she visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson. She also was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson.

And speaking of the Johnsons it was last Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Johnson motored to Omaha to attend the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Dorothy Ann Aerni and Eugene D. Van Hove, both of Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hinman.

Then we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kinney and their two children, Dana and Terri will be entertaining guests this week end. The visitors will be Mr. and Mrs. John Kleiber and their daughters, Cindy and Lynn, of Ramona, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Wilder of Wichita, Kan.

It was last week end when Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson and their children Ruth Ann, David and Martha took a short motor trip to Wayne where they visited Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rohrke and their family; and to Norfolk where they were guests of Mr. Thompson's father, F. W. Thompson. Accompanying the Thompson family home for a visit in the suburb were Mr. and Mrs. Rohrke's sons, Neal and Keith.

FIENE HEIGHTS

There was a fun party in the suburb this week for which Mrs. Robert Colborn was hostess in courtesy to Mrs. H. R. Seaburg. Invited to the informal coffee were a number of Mrs. Colborn's former neighbors who included Mrs. Bob Drevo, Mrs. Lynn Landgren, Mrs. Lloyd Behrens and Mrs. John Roux.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

A guest in Kessler Heights at the moment is Mrs. Claude Kimball, who arrived by plane on Tuesday. Mrs. Kimball is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Becker and their two children, Kim and John.

Dear Abby . . .

Do Something About It

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a patient in a hospital and have multiple ailments, but let's not go into that. I am practically a permanent invalid, but my problem is not me, it's my visitors. Most of my visitors are better for me than medicine, but this one aunt and uncle who visit me irritate me so much I wish they'd stay home. They come in complaining about how hard it was for them to get up here. Then they start telling me about all the bad news in the family. Then they complain about how bad business is and also how poor their health is and end up telling me MY illness is all in my head and I should snap out of it. What do you do with people like that?

SICK OF RELATIVES
DEAR SICK: Patients who are irritated by visitors should enlist the co-operation of their doctors. Simply have the doctor tell them they are not to visit unless called—and don't call them.

DEAR ABBY: We adopted a lovely baby and after having him for two months we had to return him to his unwed mother. We are both heartbroken and it will probably take a long time to get another one. I would like your advice as to what we should do with all the gifts people gave us for this baby. We acknowledged them all immediately and most came from out of town. We feel funny now because we have the baby gifts and no baby. What should we do with them? They'd be hurt if we returned them. Awaiting your helpful reply.

SAD PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: Keep the gifts for your next baby. The givers would want it that way. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is part French and has lived in France most of her life. She says the beauty operators over there have known for a long time that women who were heavy smokers in their younger years always started to grow dark mustaches after they reached forty. The glands, she says, are stimulated by the nicotine. Is there any truth to this? DOLORES

DEAR DOLORES: If nicotine stimulates the growth of hair (be it on a woman's face or a man's head) this is one "claim" the cigarette advertisers have not yet discovered. I'm no authority on glands or the effects of nicotine, but I suspect this tale is without foundation.

DEAR ABBY: I am the "good kid" of the family. I've always knocked myself out for my husband's relatives. When they come to visit me I make them feel so welcome with cooking, baking and cleaning up after sister-in-law doesn't bother with company. She doesn't cook or bake one thing extra. She lets everything lay where they dropped it and practically ignores them. They call her a slob and it's like water rolling off a duck's back. If anybody called me a slob I'd cry for a week. Why can't I be like my sister-in-law? CLEO

DEAR CLEO: Because you're a lady—not a slob.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

Looking over the financial page this morning, I see that the Ford people lost $17 million. This is a fair score. And, as a stockholder, I surely hope they find it.

One place they should look is under the newspaper that you line the dresser drawer with. Ladies are always tucking money under drawer linings. I imagine Ford has lady bookkeepers.

A lady bookkeeper would never think of tucking $17 million in a safe. And if you asked her why, she would answer, logically:

"That would be the first place that burglars would look for it."

You cannot beat a lady for logic.

I possess three shares of Ford stock and naturally am interested whenever they drop loose change.

Of course, in these deductible days, it is sometimes GOOD to lose money.

On the other hand, it may be that the Ford people want to make money. And I am preparing a thesis for the next stockholders' meeting.

My point—and it is so simple they will be amazed—is they are making the Ford too good. It is so easy these days, there is no audience participation.

Let me tell you the Model T of my youth was the original do-it-yourself kit.

When we got a Model T, we bought the bare necessities: A body with four wheels and an engine. It was just like a lady with a new dress. You couldn't get along without the accessories.

I do not think we could have operated without a Windsor Motor Support and Stabilizer. The WMS and S was a steel truss that wrapped around the whole engine. If hooked onto the car frame.

The engine and car frame had a very loose connection and tended to chatter. When you bound them with the WMS and S, they could chatter together.

For $2 you could mount an N-L Oil Gauge—a princely piece of luxury since there was NOTHING on the panel in front of the driver.

We drove by ear. What acute hearing we developed. Listening for knocks and little vibrations that told us what was going on under the hood.

The Ford engine was oiled by what was called "splash feed."

As the crankshaft revolved, the connecting rods dipped into the pool of oil that sloshed in the crankcase. And they "splashed" the oil upward.

When you were going uphill, this loose oil lay back in the rear of the crankcase. This deprived the front bearing of its splash of oil. And this was always the bearing that burnt out.

The bearing was lined with a soft metal called "babbitt." No oil, hot metal. It melted like wax and—bang! bang! bang!

I was reliably advised by an Idaho sheepherder how to fix this. I was lying on my back beneath the car in a dry creek bed, 100 miles from Boise.

"Cut yourself a thick piece of bacon rind," he said. "Stick her in there where the babbitt burnt out and she'll get you to town."

Worked like a charm! When my Ford whimpers these days, I do not even how to feed it an aspirin. It is that complicated.

Well, that is the advice I will give Ford. When us stockholders gather at River Rouge and cut up stockholding touches.

Take off the chrome, boys. And make room for the bacon rind.

Why my car comes these days with all sorts of things we used to ADD: rubber pads on the pedals, speedometers, oil gauges.

We NEVER had such things until we put them on ourselves. If you wanted to know how fast you were going, you put your hand out the side and estimated the wind.

Anyway, these are just a few things they could take OFF the car. It would make millions—that is my opinion. About that $17 million: Have they looked in the teapot? We found $2.25 in our teapot once. And I wish you could have heard the logical explanation! McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Condemnation Award Protested

The State Department of Roads has protested to the State Supreme Court a $3,230 award to Sam and Lydia Phillips by the Gosper County District Court in a land condemnation action.

The road agency brought the action to acquire 1.07 acres of Phillips land needed in the reconstruction of U.S. Highway 283, connecting Elwood and Lexington.

In a brief filed with the Supreme Court, the Road Department said the district court erred in failing to instruct the jury on the issue of special benefits accruing to the Phillips from the hard surfacing and regrading of the highway.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

The average American homemaker uses about 3 times as much electricity as she did 15 years ago.

By living longer and working shorter hours, the average American now has 22 years more free time at his disposal than grandfathers did a century ago.

The output of bituminous coal in the U. S. has increased from 872 net tons per man annually in 1927 to 2,243 net tons in 1957.

The nation's first state compulsory school attendance law was enacted by Massachusetts in 1852.

The temperature sometimes reaches 100 degrees in Alaska during the summer.

AUSSIE CUTS 2-MILE RECORD

Elliott Beaten By Al Thomas

... Winner Clocked in 8:32

Dublin, Ireland (P)—Albert Thomas, a tiny Australian clerk, broke the world's record for 2 miles Thursday night with a time of 8:32.0.

In doing so he defeated by 25 yards Herb Elliott, another Australian, who on this same lightning fast track Wednesday night pushed the world mile record down to 3:54.5.

Thomas' performance establishes him as one of the greatest and most versatile of distance runners. Wednesday night he ran the mile in 3:58.6 in 5th place behind Elliott. On July 9 he set a world 3 mile record here of 13:10.8.

The accepted 2 mile record is 8:33.4, set by Sandor Iharos of Hungary in 1955. Thomas bettered this by 1 and four-tenths seconds.

Again a capacity crowd of 20,000 went wild over running feats of the athletes from down under. They came to urge on Elliott, but Thomas won their hearts.

The lap times for the sizzling 2 miles were: 63 seconds, 2:10.0, 3:17.0, 4:22.0, 5:23.0, 6:30.0, 7:31.0, and 8:32.0 for the world record.

Elliott stayed ahead of Thomas until the last 2 laps, when the 5 foot, 5-inch Sydney clerk stepped up the pace. Thomas ran the last half mile in 2:02, and that was too much for Elliott who finished in 8:37.6.

Thomas is 23 years old and until he burst on the track world with his 3 mile record he was comparatively obscure, overshadowed in Australia by Elliott, Merv Lincoln, and of course John Landy, who holds the accepted world mile mark at 3:58.

In effect the 2 miles was a turnabout for the 2 rivals. Thomas set the early pace Wednesday and it was so fast he helped Elliott to his mile mark. Elliott set the early pace here, until Thomas took over in the 6th lap.

Weather conditions were perfect for the race—even better than for Elliott's mile Wednesday night.

The air was cool and still. There was no rain. Everything was ideal for a record—and Thomas made the most of it.

Thomas piled up a 7 yard lead over Elliott in the 7th lap, which he spun in 61 seconds, and made it 25 yards by maintaining the same pace for the 8th and final turn around the quarter mile track.

"I had almost lost all hope at the mile point," Thomas said. "But I kept tracking away and just got there. Sanity must be the fastest track in the world today."

The little Australian's previous best time for 2 miles was 8:37.8 on the Sydney grass track in June. Elliott only once before had run 2 miles—as an 18-year-old in Melbourne when he did 9:01.

Keith Gardner of Jamaica and the University of Nebraska won the 120-yard hurdles in 14.1 seconds.

PUEBLO RATTLES LINCOLN

Pueblo, Colo. (P)—Right-hander Dave Stenhouse limited Lincoln's Chiefs to 3 hits Thursday night in pitching Pueblo to 10-1 victory in the opener of a Western League series.

Pueblo broke open a tight ball game with an 8-run burst in the 6th inning. Left-hander Bill Dial gave up 3 hits and two runs in the 1st inning and had little trouble with the Bruins for the next 4 frames.

In the 6th, after Dial retired Al Shaw on a called strikeout, 6 Bruins in succession hit safely in an outburst which sent the Lincoln south-paw to the showers. The big hits in the inning were run-scoring doubles by John Kreuter and Emil Syngel and a 3-run triple by Wayne Connally.

Lincoln used its 1st hit in the manufacture of its lone run in the 2nd.

Lincoln Legion Ousted

... Hastings Wins 8-3

Lincoln Star Special

Hastings — Airtight relief pitching by Ken Kramer and two big innings gave Hastings the Area C Junior Legion baseball championship here Thursday night with an 8-3 victory over the Lincoln Optimists.

Hastings, unbeaten in the tourney, will take a 21-15 record into the state tournament at Columbus Sunday. The Optimists ended with a 20-3 mark, two of the losses coming at the hands of Earl Applebee's Hastings crew here.

Kramer came on to relieve starting and winning pitcher Sam Hoagland in the 6th with bases loaded. Kramer proceeded to strike out the side and fanned a total of 9 of the 12 men he faced without allowing a hit in the final 4 innings.

Lincoln, had scored its 6th inning run on a pair of walks, a error, and a hit batsmen. A triple by Gary Mouden following singles by Denny Puelz and Don Burt had given Lincoln a 2-0 lead in the 2nd inning.

But Hastings roared back with a trio of runs in the 3rd on a pair of singles, an error, and Larry Uhrmacher's triple.

Hastings iced the contest in the next inning, scoring 5 runs on only one hit. Three walks and a pair of errors blended with Hoagland's single.

Mickey McGuire relieved Burt in the inning and blanked Hastings the rest of the way. Hastings: ab r h bi Lincoln: ab r h bi

Braves Rally In 7th, Nip Pittsburgh Again By 3-2

Spahn Collects 15th Win; Friend Loses

Milwaukee (P)—A 3-run 7th inning rally featured by Ed Mathews' 23rd home run gave Milwaukee a 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh Thursday and extended the Braves' National League lead to 7 games.

Warren Spahn, like the Pirates' Bob Friend bidding for his 15th victory of the season, got the decision in a sharply pitched game. Friend had a 2-hit shutout going into the disastrous 4-hit 7th. Spahn, now 15-7, gave up 7 hits. Friend's record now is 14-12.

The triumph before 24,925 fans—plus 8,000 ladies and knotholders — gave Milwaukee a 3-1 edge in the 4-game series at County Stadium.

The Bucs took the lead in the 2nd inning, when Bill Mazeroski doubled after 2 were out and scored on Dick Groat's single. Groat made it 2-0 when Billy Bruton dropped the ball, but Spahn got Hank Foiles on a flyball.

Pittsburgh threatened again in the 7th when Frank Thomas' beat out a bunt to open the inning. He was forced on Bob Skinner's attempt sacrifice, but Skinner got to 3rd on Mazeroski's single. But Groat hit into a double play to end the attempt.

Then in the bottom of the inning, the world champions came to life. Red Schoendienst opened with a sharp single and Mathews followed with No. 23. Henry Aaron singled, advanced on a sacrifice by Joe Adcock and scored on a single by Frank Torre. But at that point, Johnny Logan hit into an inning-ending double play.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

By Al Beebe
(Sports Editor Don Bryant is on vacation.)

"We don't allow them to be men of their word." That was Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings' comment on the suggestion by Terry Brennan of Notre Dame for a nation-wide letter of intent.

Brennan said the nationally enforced letter would "make high school boys become more men of their word."

"Now," Brennan continued, "a high school star agrees to go to one college, but 3, 4 or 5 other schools then approach him and the boy gets so confused he doesn't know where he finally wants to go."

Jennings, who used the "we" to mean all coaches, and not just the Husker staff, agrees.

"Every one of us tries to change his mind. We must assume our share of responsibility."

Jennings believes that a national letter-of-intent rule is the only way it can be effective. Currently, just two or 3 conferences have the rule, and it does not apply to other conferences or to independents. Under the conference letter-of-intent, the high school graduate signs a letter stating his intention of attending a school, and other schools in the conference are then supposed to keep hands off the boy.

The Big Eight has the rule under consideration. Brennan suggests that, under the national rule, violation might bring a one or two year period of ineligibility to the athlete. The letter would be in triplicate, a copy for the boy, another for the school, and one for the national body, probably the NCAA.

"I don't think you can put all the blame on the high school boys," said Jennings. "We put on constant pressure to change their mind. A national letter-of-intent might eliminate some things not thought to be constructive to college football. It would help, but not solve the problem."

Jennings fully realizes that the blame for college recruiting woes must be placed, first, upon the coaches themselves. That's because they are the ones who are, supposedly, responsible for it.

Obviously, of course, the blame for high school boys jumping from one school to another, the blame for excessive scholarships, over-zealous recruiting methods, and the stigma which has been attached to college football because of these woes, goes beyond the coaches.

Naturally, Nebraskans want a winner at the University. Also, quite naturally, Jennings wants a winner. He'd be lax in his job if he didn't do everything possible to bring a winner here.

Pressure is on the coaches. The pressure goes on down to the high school boy. He becomes confused. Jennings is right, you can't blame the boy.

The high school athlete isn't the only one who is confused.

Navy Coach Not Worried About Replacing 21 Boys

San Francisco (AP)—Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz says he isn't worried about replacing 21 of the 36 players in his 1957 football squad for the coming season. He has faith in his Simplicity System and jitterbug defense.

Erdelatz is winding up his summer vacation in familiar haunts hereabouts, preparatory to rebuilding his graduation-depleted Middies. They have lost only 2 games in 2 years. His 1957 squad had a 9-1-1 record, climaxed by a smashing 20-7 victory over Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

"We'll have a ball—we always do," said Erdelatz in an interview.

"I don't believe in all that high pressure stuff. I have the Simplicity System. It's a few plays and few defenses. It has worked out all right."

Erdelatz declared the underlying philosophy in his approach to the game is "to get fun out of it."

"That's what I tell my players," he explained. "I tell them there's no pressure on them to play and if they can't have some fun to turn in their suits. No scholarship is at stake."

"We—the coaches—also have fun. We have no 6 a.m. staff meetings and there's plenty of time in the afternoon 2 or 3 times a week. And no night sessions."

JOHNSON JUNIOR WINNER

A 15-year-old Lincoln South-east student, Joe Johnson, took 2 holes to warm up his task and then easily disposed of 12-year-old Charles Borner to win the 1958 Boys City Golf Tournament.

Johnson was down a hole after the 1st two holes, having shot a 6 and then a 7.

But then Johnson parred the next 3 holes to go 2 up, was even on No. 6, another par on the 7th for a 3 up margin, halved No. 8, and won the 9th hole for a 4 up margin after the 1st tour at Pioneers.

And Johnson, his putter working well, swept the 1st 3 holes of the 2nd 9 to close out the match on No. 12, 7-6.

The victory gave Johnson a small trophy, a large traveling trophy, and automatic entry in the Men's City Golf Tournament next week.

It was the 3rd straight easy win for Johnson, who won 6-5 in both the quarter-final and semi-final matches.

The 2nd flight proved to be the closest match of the day, with Bob Cunningham edging Bill Myer 1 up in 19 holes. The only other close final of the day was in the 4th flight, where Tom Dodge was a 2 and 1 winner over Ron Inderbitzen.

Bill Harder was 7 and 6 over Roger Norris in the 1st flight, and Bruce Johnson took the 3rd flight 6 and 5 from Gerald Belschner.

Peter Pan Captures 5 Table Tennis Titles

Players from Peter Pan won 5 titles in the Lincoln Playground table tennis tournament for both boys and girls. Only Walter Wornholz of Prescott in boys 9-11 broke the domination.

Peter Pan winners were Abbie Dittenberg, girls 9-11; Carolyn Knight, girls 12-15; Dittenberg and Knight, girls doubles; Dick Clemens, boys 12-15; Clemens and Lutz, boys doubles.

CALHOUN IS 6-5 FAVORITE OVER UNBEATEN CHALLENGER TONIGHT

New York (AP) — Rory Calhoun, a tough slugger, is a 6-5 favorite to defeat unbeaten Gene (Ace) Armstrong, a fine boxer, in a 10-round battle at Madison Square Garden tonight. Both are middle-weight contenders.

Calhoun, 23, is the son of a Georgia minister and is a lover of classical music. Armstrong, 26, is a packer in a Linden, N. J., liquor firm. Off their backgrounds, one would figure Rory to be the boxer and Gene the slugger.

This is the big opportunity for Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J. He has won all 14 of his fights in a three-year pro career. Only one was by a knockout.

He climbed into the 160-pound division's 1st 10 by soundly whipping seasoned Charley Joseph of New Orleans on Feb. 17. That was his most recent fight.

2 More Nebraskans Die On Highways

By the Associated Press
Nebraska's 1958 highway fatality toll rose to 182 Thursday following the deaths of two men in separate traffic accidents. At this time last year the state's road death toll stood at 159.

The latest victims:
Arthur T. Hoaglund, 70, Loomis.
Andy Schirmer, 65, Lewellen.

Mr. Hoaglund, authorities said, may have suffered a heart attack in addition to his injuries from the accident. His was the first traffic death of 1958 in Phelps County.

Safety Patrolman M. E. Westrope said Mr. Hoaglund was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, Victor, 72, also of Loomis. The car went out of control on a country road south of Loomis and overturned in a ditch.

Westrope said Victor Hoaglund reported his brother did not appear to be seriously injured and he set out after help. By the time the Hol-drege emergency unit reached the scene Arthur Hoaglund was dead.

Mr. Schirmer, 65-year-old Lewellen bachelor farmer, died in a hospital Thursday of injuries suffered in a one-car traffic accident on the state Highway 27 bridge over the Platte River two miles south of Oshkosh.

Sheriff O. R. Roberts said Mr. Schirmer was a passenger in a car driven by Nelson Rogers of Oshkosh. Rogers was hospitalized but his condition was reported not serious.

The sheriff said the car went out of control in the middle of the bridge and crashed into the structure. The accident occurred Wednesday night and Mr. Schirmer never regained consciousness.

4-H Fair Scheduled Saturday At Cortland

Cortland, Neb.—The Cortland Boosters Club will sponsor a 4-H Achievement Fair Saturday with more than 60 girls from 6 home economics clubs participating.

The program includes a ballgame at 1 p.m., a horse and pony show at 2:30, a pet parade at 7 p.m. to be followed by a free movie. The girls 4-H program will begin at 8 a.m.

Ex-Member Chennault's Staff Remembers Crack Leadership

Crete, Neb. — The recent death of Gen. Claire L. Chennault brought memories to a Crete resident.

He is F. Marvin Plake, who served on Gen. Chennault's staff during World War II and then was public relations manager for the general's airline, Civil Air Transport, before joining the staff of Cum-erford, Inc., consultants to colleges and hospitals on development programs and on capital funds campaigns. Cur-rently he is residing here with his wife and son while on an assignment at Doane College.

Asked to describe the general in one word, Plake said he thought the best word was "leadership."

Citing an example, Plake told how Civil Air Transport was driven from the China mainland by the Communists. The firm's headquarters were moved from Shanghai 6 times, southward to Hainan

Marvin Plake

Island. Finally they stopped at Hong Kong.

Men and machines were tired. Worst of all, it was an airline with no rights to fly, Plake noted. At that moment came absolute proof of the general's leadership.

He gathered with about 500 bedraggled employees. He told them the airline was broke. That they had no place to fly. That things had never looked worse. And that he recom-mended they seek other em-ployment because the best he could do was to put them on half pay for the next 3 months while he determined whether some business could be de-veloped.

Not a single employee quit, Plake said. And most of them offered whatever savings they had if it would help the company.

Commenting further on his former employer, Plake noted that hardly anyone who ever worked for him (Chennault) refers to him in any way other than "the general."

Nebraska Oil Output Rises

Sidney, Neb. (U)—Oil produc-tion in Nebraska hit a daily average of 55,639 barrels dur-ing the past week. There is no reason to believe that the Mid-dle East situation had any-thing to do with it.

Rather, oil men said, it was all part of a seasonal demand, which could affect the daily average by a thousand or more barrels if the "above ground" storage started run-ning low.

So far as area oil men know, there has been little or no in-terruption in the flow of oil from the Middle East since the Iraq revolution.

Production in Nebraska will probably fluctuate between 50,000 and 55,000 barrels per day unless some unexpected new demand develops, it is predicted.

Can't Lick Inflation

Suffolk, Va. (UPI) — The American Philatelic Society, which keeps the romance of stamps alive, has been hit where it hurts. It says in-creased 2nd class postal rates make it essential to boost membership dues from $4 to $5 a year.

POTATO CHIPS

Disposal Plant Plans Readied

Red Cloud, Neb. (U)—Mayor K. L. Bowen of Red Cloud said plans for a sewage dis-posal plant at Red Cloud have been almost completed.

Planning for the disposal plant indicates it will cost about $75,000 of which 30% will come from government funds and the remainder from quarterly assessments on city property instead of an in-crease in the city tax levy.

Present plans call for locat-ing the plant 2 miles south of Red Cloud on bottom land north of the Republican River.

Sometime ago city officials received notice from the State Department of Health that such a plant would be neces-sary.

Since the Republican Valley Irrigation and Flood Control project has been virtually completed, there is a smaller volume of water flowing down the Republican and towns be-low Red Cloud have com-plainined of stream pollution.

$4,250,000 For LAFB In Military Construction Bill

A compromise military con-struction authorization bill passed by the House included provision of $4,250,000 for op-erational training, main-tenance and supply facilities and utilities at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Also provided in the mea-sure was $3,265,000 for op-erational, training, and supply facilities and real estate at Offutt, Air Force Base, Omaha.

An Associated Press dis-patch from Washington re-ported the total $1,695,000,000 bill was sent to the Senate on a 256-135 vote for final legis-lative action.

The measure, a reworking of differing versions originally passed by the House and Sen-ate, carried despite last min-ute objections of "land grab" and "pork barrel."

Ask Cancellation Of Assessments

Falls City, Neb. (U)—Richard-son County commissioners have been asked to cancel "in lieu of tax" assessments against the Loup Public Pow-er and Irrigation District on the latter's tract near Hum-boldt.

County Attorney Henry F. Schepman said that the Ne-braska statutes exempt rural power districts and rural ir-rigation districts from being charged fees as a substitute for taxes.

The assessment, about $40 a year, had never been paid and when the county attorney wrote Loup about the matter, the firm's attorneys cited the exemption.

The county attorney re-quested the commissioners to cancel the assessment for the past 3 years.

Lloyd Resigns

North Platte, Neb. — Ted Lloyd, executive of the Tri-trails Council Boy Scouts since 1954, has resigned. On Sept. 1 he will become execu-tive of the Hawkeye Boy Scout Council at Cedar Rapids Iowa.

A Trip To Fairbanks—You Enter The Heart Of Alaska's Gold-Mining Area

(This is the fifth in a series of 6 articles on the 49th state.)

By Burris Jenkins Jr.
Fairbanks, Alaska — It's hot. And getting hotter.

You are 157 miles from the Arctic Circle and the temperature is in the 80s!

Each town in Alaska has its own weather thermostat and problems: Anchorage the Japan Current, Fairbanks its ring of mountains, Nome and Barrow their frigid seas, Juneau warm protecting waters — and rain.

To go north to Fairbanks 300 miles from Anchorage, there are 3 ways.

There is the Alaska Railroad — the "Aurora" — only government-owned railroad in America. It starts in Seward and runs for 470 miles, gives you a comfortable scenic treat but takes all day.

Or you can drive up in a car — also in a day.

Need Competition
Or you can fly in an hour and 15 minutes on Alaskan Airways. (You can shuttle up with the Air Force but the schedule is uncertain). Why Alaskan Airways has no competition is something statehood should take care of. There is only one flight a day — in the evening.

Which necessitates a night or two in Fairbanks — not hard to take. There are modern bars, cafes and good hotels. But no salesmen thought to sell them electric fans or air conditioning. (The salesmen are probably farther north selling iceboxes to the Eskimos.)

George Sundborg, editor of the News-Miner, takes over while his boss, Bill Snedden, stays in Washington arranging statehood details. Sundborg meets your plane with his charming wife and children. You chose the Nordale Hotel in town just to be near things.

Across the street a movie is letting out—"The Thing That Couldn't Die"—popularized by teen-agers of every color, shade and slant of eye—Eskimo, Indian, Negro, Caucasian. They're all dressed in the uniform of teen-agers everywhere: blue jeans, floppy shirts, and pony tails. There seems to be no self-consciousness of race, even in the bars.

Without Lights
It's midnight when George drives you back to the Nor-dale, past a soft ball game still going on in a nearby sandlot—without lights . . .

You are up early. There is much to do in a day. This afternoon you intend to cruise on Jim Binkley's steamboat up the Tanana River. Now there are the goldfields to visit — what's left of them. And the university.

The latter is in a town called College. On the drive out of Fairbanks you pass a "motor scooter rental service" for tourists—where a dozen Lambrettas lean against a garage. The beautiful Monroe Catholic High School is built modern in one story to withstand the earthquakes indigenous to this volcanic valley. The landscape is lush but threatened by forest fires, for the weather has been very dry.

The university of 700 students is a land-grant institution intended to keep young men from going "outside" to school and never coming back. The dozen or so 3-story buildings speckle a hillside. One of them is the Eielson Memorial Building. The name of Carl Van Eielson is more alive than the relics of prehistoric and Alaskan folklore inside, for it was Eielson, with his buddies Crosson and Wien, who cracked this country open after the First World War. They practically coined the phrase "bush pilot" by landing on anything anywhere with bits of bushes tangled in the wing skids. Only Wien is left alive now; he owns an airline between here and Seattle.

End of Gold Rush
A few miles farther up a dusty road you come to what looks like the end of the gold rush. Dredge No. 10 of the Esther Gold Fields on Cripple Creek is barely operating in a muddy pond.

"There's still plenty of gold here," a dredge shoreman explains, "but the cost of getting it out isn't worth it. A man could pan himself $2 a day from the creeks. He can make 10 times that washing dishes in town."

"The big companies, like the U.S. Smelting, Refining and Mining Co. here, make barely enough to keep the wheels turning. Cost of production has doubled and the cost of living index in Fairbanks is highest in America. We blame some of it on the military. Before World War II — when Ladd and Eielson Air Bases came in — you could buy a cabin on a piece of land for $1,000. Now it'll cost you from $10 to $30,000."

In early afternoon, you wait on the river bank as Captain Jim Binkley steams up in the 50-foot sternwheeler he built himself. He and his vivacious wife Mary have invented a thriving tourist business with a unique idea. Being the son of a ship's captain, and having his own master's papers at the age of 14, gave Jim the notion that the way to show visitors the real Alaska was to travel by water.

Now at least once a day during June, July and August, the diesel-driven "Discovery" churns downstream from a small tributary into the big Tanana River. Handsome Jim lectures over a microphone from the wheelhouse, dodging sandbars with the other hand while doing 7 knots plus a 6-knot current.

The trip back up river is longer and there is time for pleasant talks over the intercom by both Jim and Mary. All about how the Eskimos came to this continent only 3,500 years ago but the Indians have been here 10,000 years. How they warred once and now live like brothers, how they cure moosehide by hand and use the moosehair for sled runners in winter and . . .

But now you are back in town. People are still celebrating statehood up and down 2nd Avenue on both sides of the Silver Dollar Saloon and after a while nobody notices the heat.

At 5 a.m. the Pan Am Airline bus is going to call for you to start the long journey home. You try to sleep. But it's hot. The midnight sun is not the only thing lit up on the streets of Fairbanks. You get up, dress, and go back to the Silver Dollar.

(Tomorrow: Juneau and the problems of getting around Alaska's huge distances.)

Man, 69, Pleads No Contest In Fondling Case

Ben Thompson, 69, of 4942 Adams pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) in Lancaster District Court to a fondling a minor charge.

Judge Harry Ankeny found Thompson guilty and deferred sentencing pending an investigation of the case by the Adult Probation Office.

Thompson, 69, is charged with fondling a 9-year-old Lincoln girl June 27. A second charge of fondling involving another 9-year-old girl on the same date was dismissed by Judge Ankeny at the request of the county attorney's office.

Thompson had previously pleaded innocent to both charges in County Court.

House Kills Attempt To Shelve $1 Billion Education Bill

Washington (P) — The House defeated 265-108 an attempt to shelve its billion-dollar education-for-defense bill.

The vote was on a motion to refuse to permit it to come up for House debate. The House will proceed to vote on amendments.

The bill would authorize a

1,070,000,000 4-year program to provide scholarships, fellowships and student loan funds, along with state grants and other efforts to strengthen education, especially in science.

It has been pegged to an asserted need to match or overcome Russia's long strides in scientific and technological advances.

Rep. Harry G. Haskell Jr. (R-De) said in debate that "if the United States fails to meet this competition, 10 years from now it will be too late to regret it."

"Unnecessary"

In opposition, Rep. Donald W. Nicholson (R-Mass) said the bill is unnecessary, that anybody who really wants to go to college finds a way to do it.

Rep. Carl Elliott (D-Ala), author of the bill, said there is no better way to help America's defense than young people. And it is a fact, he said, that the Russians are producing twice as many scientists as America.

An amendment is expected to reduce the number of proposed scholarships from 20,000 or more a year, to the 10,000

'Unso'

In the argument on whether the House should even consider the bill, Reps. Ward W. Smith (D-Va) and John Taber (R-NY) both called the legislation unsound.

Smith said that if the House turned down more of such proposals, "then I'll stop getting some of this crazy legislation that 'ways comes in at the end of the session.'"

Taber asked: "Ought we not . . . stop this crazy bill right where it is?"

The Senate has pending a bill along the same lines, but more extensive and more expensive.

2 Billion Bill

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) announced he would offer a two billion dollar school construction proposal as a floor amendment to the Senate bill.

It is scheduled to come up on the Sena' floor early next week.

McNamara's amendment would allocate one billion to the states for a of 10 years under a formula based on school-age population. The states would be required to match the federal grants.

5 Towns Ask $125,261 In Sewage Plant Aid

By Betty Person

Applications for federal grants totaling $125,261 to aid in construction of sewage treatment plants at Hallam, Elkhorn, North Loup, Wilber and Seward were forwarded to U.S. Public Health officials at Kansas City Thursday by the State Health Department.

This step was taken after T. A. Filipi, director of the Health Department's sanitation division, had assigned priorities to the 5 communities as he had been authorized to do by the State Water Pollution Control Council.

The priorities are assigned out of the $683,850 in federal aid to be divided among Nebraska communities applying for such assistance during the 1959 fiscal year.

End To Pollution

Filipi noted that the plans submitted by Wilber and Seward, if approved by federal officials, would mean the end of pollution on the Big Blue River by the end of 1959.

Proposed projects at Hebron, Franklin and Red Cloud should clear up pollution of the Little Blue and Republican rivers when those programs are completed along with other projects now under construction, he added.

Filipi said the Public Health Service has approved projects and offered grants to Plainview, Beaver City and Arapahoe for assistance in sewage treatment plants. The communities have 2 weeks in which to accept the offers, he said.

Federal Funds

Arapahoe was offered $16,787 in federal money to help in building a project whose total estimated cost will be $57,132.

Beaver City was offered $9,735 for a total project cost of $34,950, and Plainview was offered $14,520 to aid in the project's total cost of $53,400.

Hallam, which also is planning to build a sewer system, has asked for $4,626 in federal funds to aid in a proposed sewage treatment plant whose total cost is estimated at $17,071.

Seward Asks Plant

Seward has requested $75,000 for a sewage treatment plant with a total estimated cost of $253,100.

Wilber is seeking $22,938 in federal funds for a project to cost $76,963.

Elkhorn is asking for $19,689 in federal aid for a total project cost of $65,632.

North Loup has requested $3,008 in federal funds for its sewage treatment plant. Also planning to build a sewer system, the total cost of the 2 projects is $72,138.

Federal funds are available only for the treatment plant, however, Filipi said, because sewer systems are not eligible for grants.

The applications and approvals already granted means the state has approximately $367,000 still available for construction grants in fiscal 1959, Filipi said.
